C & O Canal Association

VOLUME XXVI MARCH 1994 NUMBER 1

PRESERVING THE SPIRIT OF THE C&O CANAL ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Association, Incorporated was held on March 5, 1994, at the Williamsport, Maryland Volunteer Fire Hall. (Story and annual reports appear on subsequent pages of this issue.) In accordance with the Association By-Laws, Dave Johnson, following nine years of dedicated service on the Board of Directors of the Association and having also served in the offices of President and Treasurer, passed the gavel to Carl Linden. Carl's President's Message follows.....

It is a refuge, a place of retreat, a long stretch of quiet and peace at the Capitol's back door—a wilderness area where man can be alone with his thoughts, a sanctuary where he can, commune with God and with nature, a place not yet marred by the roar of wheels and the sound of horns.

Here William O. Douglas said it all about the Potomac River and the C & O Canal. In these few words are expressed our Association's reason for being and our common bond as members. Here is what we together enjoy and love, what we each have learned, what we gladly communicate and share with others, and what we are all prepared to support and defend.

As your new President I, like the rest of us, am looking forward with anticipation to our big and defining event of the year. Our Association's 40th Anniversary Canal Hike from Cumberland to Washington from Sunday, April 17th to April 30th celebrates Justice Douglas's original walk for the canal park in 1954.

As though following Moses to the promised land our members walked a stretch of the canal with the Justice every year for seventeen successive years until we had walked a National Park into existence. No one had ever done this before. Indeed, the whole affair was something rather spontaneous and marvelous. The 1954 hike began as a dare - - Douglas's bidding the Post editors to walk with him and see the folly of their advocacy of a project for paving over the canal with a highway. High spirits, a sense of adventure, comraderie, good humor, and even a sort of poetry animated the hikers. Banter among them eased the prospect of aching muscles and sore feet. Merlo Pusey, one of the Post editors, took issue with Aubrey Graves's characterization of the upcoming hike as a "bunion ballet." He offered what, he deemed, were better alternative descriptions. Any one of the following, in his view, were more apt and sonorous:

- a callous caracole
- a blister bolero
- a plodder's promenade
- a straggler's strut
- a rambler's rigadoon
- or, even ...
- a drag-foot fandango

Now I have thought of one. How about a pedestrian polka? (Better stop before this gets out of hand!)

On this 40th year reunion, we the inheritors, of course, eschew any hubristic rivalling of the "immortal nine's" nine-day trek. We will decorously undertake a more deferential, perhaps more prudential perambulation. (Stop! I say!) Not that a 21-mile-a-day pace is beyond us, (heaven forfend!), but we will not even contemplate the inadvertent violation of the park's NO SMOKING regulation in the event our feet were to start smoking!

Foolery aside, we have also walked every year since the founding of the canal park to celebrate the original feat (Oops!) that brought the park into being and in walking the towpath from end to end every fifth year. We, thus, have rededicated and do now rededicate ourselves to the canal park’s prosperous continuance.

I was most honored to be elected as your new President at the Annual Meeting on March 5th. I will be glad if I can come anywhere close to the record of devoted and able service to the Association that our outgoing President, Dave Johnson, accomplished over the past several years. The plaque with the bronzed "Golden Muleshoe" mounted upon it (Helen Shaw’s inspiration) which we presented to Dave at the meeting expresses our gratitude to him for a job well done. There was a touch of turnabout in the award. Dave is the one who first introduced the muleshoe (though, just plain, everyday, iron ones) as an award for members’ service to the Association and the canal. We would have given Dave one of pure gold but Bill Evans, our vigilant treasurer, warns against falling into bankruptcy. Also, honored with the presentation of a Justice William O. Douglas Certificate of Appreciation was Hal Larsen for many years of service and for establishing the archives.

At all events the tasks facing the Association are perennial, I will not go through all the issues we face here and the long laundry list of things that need doing. From 1954 to 1971 the Association’s focus was on promoting the idea of a canal park and lobbying for the legislation that brought it into being in 1971. Since then we have combined the business of protecting and enhancing the park with our the true pleasure of using it. In the meantime, the Association has grown strong with an increasing and talented body of members. We now have a fine cadre of very active members, but any one who wants to lend a hand in our committees, Level Walkers, volunteer work, or in the many-sided activities of the Association is welcome with open arms. By the way, interested members are welcome to attend our regular Board meetings. In sum, there is more than enough to do for all. I look forward to working with the Board, the Officers, the Committees and our members at large in advancing our common purpose.

I am excited at the thought of joining our hikers on the big hike next month. Arrangements for the hike are in very good shape thanks to the hard work of William Bauman, Bill Evans, Dave Johnson, Hal Larsen, Ken Rollins, Helen Shaw, and many others. We do hope all who are unable to join the full hike will join us for day hikes and come to the concluding banquet. I also issue a special invitation in advance to all through-hike participants, both past and present, for a cookout on the deck at my place in Brookmont above Locks 5 and 6 on Friday, the 29th of April from 5:00 P.M. on. Hikers will have arrived at Great Falls that day for the final leg of the hike on the next day. Bon Voyage!

PRESIDENT’S REPORT - Dave Johnson’s Farewell Report,

ANNUAL MEETING, 5 MARCH 1994

It is the custom for the president to open the annual general membership meeting with a report of the events of the preceding year. Since this will be my last opportunity to do this, I will also try to look ahead a little, and see what is in store for the coming year.

As I reported to you last year, 1992 was exceptional for the Park and for the Association. We co-sponsored a major international conference, hosted visitors from Britain, and experienced unprecedented membership growth. Nineteen ninety three, in contrast, could not match those events, but nevertheless, we carried on our traditional activities and made progress in several areas. Our officers and committee chairs will report on these in detail.

Nineteen ninety four is a major milestone in the history of the Association, because it marks the fortieth anniversary of the event that led to the founding of our society, the original Justice Douglas-Washington Post hike down the C & O Canal. On the final night on the trail, camping at the Izaak Walton League property near Poolesville, Douglas and the others organized a committee to summarize their conclusions and recommendations. The following month, Justice Douglas wrote to Interior Secretary McKay, outlining the ideas that the committee proposed for the preservation of the canal as a recreational and historical entity within the national park system. The following spring, they held a reunion, which was to became an annual event, and the next year, they formally organized as the C & O Canal Association.

This April, the Association will commemorate the 1954 hike, when approximately fifty of you will walk down the towpath from Cumberland to Georgetown. This will be the fifth time we have held the full-canal hike to re-enact the historic Douglas trek.

All participants in the hike were asked to help in the planning process, and fifteen subcommittees were appointed to work on the details. A steering committee was set up to manage the overall planning, with Hal Larsen in charge of administration, Donna Boies overseeing the meals group, and Ken Rollins heading the logistics functions. Carl Linden will assume overall chairmanship following today’s meeting.

The annual International Conferences on Historic Canals, which began in 1988, have become one of my favorite canal events. We co-hosted the 1992 conference at Harpers Ferry, and I was delighted that so many of our members attended the 1993 conference last fall in Nova Scotia. I believe that more than a dozen C & O Canal Association members were present. We are now looking forward to the 1994 conference, which will be held September 20 - 23 at Peterborough,
Our membership achieved a significant increase in 1992 because of favorable publicity about the Association in The Washington Post. We could not match that growth rate in 1993, and our membership leveled off at approximately the same year-end total of something over nine hundred (equal to about 1,250 people when adjusted for families). In other words, new memberships in 1993 merely offset attrition. Many of those new members from 1992 are now due for renewal for the first time. This is where we are most vulnerable to attrition - non-renewal by one- and two-year members. If we don't retain a significant percentage of them and make up the losses, our membership will slip. The resulting loss in dues income, in turn, will strain our financial position.

Our current strong financial position is due to two factors. First, membership growth has increased our income each year. Secondly, all of our program leaders have managed their budgets and controlled their expenses with admirable frugality. Our Treasurer, Bill Evans, has kept the Board of Directors informed of our status throughout the year, and allowed the board to make responsible and meaningful budget and spending decisions, based on sound fiscal information. Credit also goes to the members who served on the Budget Committee: Sharon Freedman and Lou Odom, and our Internal Audit Committee: John Chandler and Ken Rollins.

As Bill will shortly report to you, however, our income did not cover our expenses in 1993, and we ended with a net loss of $773, a variance of about 4.25%. The budget for 1994 also projects a shortfall. The Treasurer’s report will provide you with the details, but the main points I want to stress are these:

a) The Association is NOT insolvent, and this is not a crisis. We have a substantial net worth, accumulated over many years, and one or two deficit years does not put our balance sheet in the red. However, we must not continue to draw down on this reserve indefinitely. Our goal should be a balanced budget each year.

b) The Association has not increased its dues rates since 1986. During this time, our annual general and administrative budget has grown significantly, from less than $5K to over $13K. Until now, our revenue has kept pace, due to our membership growth. If membership has reached a plateau, however, or begins to decline, we will have to consider revising the dues structure to maintain a balanced budget.

c) Some of our expense categories stay relatively level, regardless of the number of members. Other functions, such as the newsletter, where the cost is driven by the number of copies printed and mailed, increase or decrease in direct proportion to membership.

d) In 1993, our expenses increased significantly in several specific areas, and these higher costs are expected to continue for several more years. We have acquired ADP equipment for the Membership, Newsletter, and Archives functions, and this investment must be expensed. The Archives Committee, now settling into its quarters at Ferry Hill, will shortly begin the tasks of sorting, cataloging, and preserving our collections of canal memorabilia and Association records, and this requires increased expenditure for supplies, furniture, and materials.

e) Postage is a major element of cost, and the Postal Service is proposing another 10% increase in 1995. We save a great deal of money by mailing our newsletters and bulletins at bulk rates, but the quality of service for that class of mail has caused us much trouble. Switching the newsletter to first class mail, to improve delivery time, would cost an additional $2,500 per year. First class postage for the bulletin could add another $700.

f) Therefore, I have recommended that the new officers and board undertake an early review of anticipated expenses for future years and propose a dues structure, based on projected membership levels, that will support the long range budget. An ad hoc committee last year did some preliminary studies on this, and it should now be undertaken by an expanded budget committee.

I am very pleased that our Davies Legal Fund has continued to grow. For the benefit of new members, let me explain that several years ago, the Association was a party to litigation with the State of Maryland concerning the Wiley Ford Bridge in South Cumberland. We were constrained from fully pursuing the matter because we lacked the resources to carry on an extended legal battle. At that time, Bill Davies proposed that we build a reserve fund of $10K, to be available to support future legal fights to defend the canal against potential encroachments. The fund is being raised mainly through contributions from members. We have been fortunate, since the original litigation was settled, that there have been no additional occasions for which we have had to draw on the fund, and it has continued to grow. In 1993, 140 members contributed a total of $2,091 to the fund, bringing the balance to over 65% of the goal set in Bill Davies’ original resolution. Since the beginning of 1994, nearly seventy additional donations, totalling over $900, have been received from members. Your generous support to build this fund for the future protection of the canal is greatly appreciated.

Our most important asset is our membership, and we owe Rita and William Bauman a lot of credit for maintaining our records and working to attract new people to the Association.

Rita chairs the Membership Committee, which staffs our booth at the local fairs and festivals in the Potomac Valley and organizes special events designed particularly to interest new members in the canal, the park, and the Association's activities. William is our membership coordinator, and runs our new ADP system for keeping track of names, addresses, renewals, etc., and for producing the mailing labels for the newsletter and bulletin. In addition, he prepares all of your membership cards, and sends name badges and other material to new members.

Our Programs Committee, chaired by Ken Rollins, plans our major events, and coordinates the activities organized by other committees. The major events in 1993 included the Douglas Hike and dinner at Cumberland in April, the Heritage Hike and dinner at Downsville in October, and overnight canoe and bicycle trips during the summer and fall. Much of the work in planning and organizing these events was done by Ken, Charlie Ayres, Sonny DeForge, Carl Linden, and others who served on their committees, without whose help these events would not have taken place.

Our Level Walker program had another successful year under the leadership of our new chairman, Keith Kridenoff. The Level Walker program is open to all members, and is one of the best ways to have an active role. If you are not a level walker, and would like a level, see Keith and ask for an assignment. If you are currently assigned to a level, be sure to walk it regularly and submit your reports. The monthly level walker hikes that Keith organizes are another informal activity that more members should take part in.

John Lindt is the new chairman for our monthly Volunteers-in-the-Park projects in the Palisades District. Our other regular volunteer program is assisting with crowd control for the Sunday canal concerts in Georgetown in the summer. Jane Larsen is our coordinator for these events. We need more volunteers for these programs. If you live in the metropolitan area, come out for our monthly Saturday morning work projects. If you live along another section of the park, volunteer there. I would like to see us develop V-I-P groups in the upstream areas as well as Palisades.

This year our Archives Committee, headed by Hal Larsen, finally moved into its new permanent home at park headquarters at Ferry Hill. We have begun furnishing the space and installing equipment, and look forward to beginning to assemble the scattered collections and records and putting them into workable shape. We are very grateful to Superintendent Hobbs and the Park Service for making the space at Ferry Hill available to us.

Bob Perry is completing his second year as editor of our quarterly newsletter, Along the Towpath. He has done a fine job of making it an attractive and readable publication, and has produced a mixture of material on the canal of interest to a broad audience. I have noted many compliments about his work from people in other canal societies as well as our own, and it is very gratifying to know that it is so recognized by the wider canal community. My wish is that more members of the Association would contribute material for publication. Original research on canal history or an article about an unusual experience along the canal would always be welcome to broaden the base of our newsletter.

The Publications Committee, chaired by Information Officer Helen Shaw, recently completed publication of our Food and Lodging Guide. Karen Gray served as editor, and many other members contributed to the final result. The original idea and draft came from Louise Taylor, before she moved to Colorado several years ago. Many of you have already received your copy, and all whose dues are paid by mid-April will get one. However, a guide of this type quickly becomes outdated, and it will have to be revised periodically if it is to be successful. This is another area where all members can be helpful, by suggesting additional entries and corrections to current listings, to be included in subsequent editions.

Orrin Long has given faithful and honorable service to the Association for many years, in many capacities, most recently as a board member and chairman of the Environmental Committee. Because of health problems, he has submitted his resignation from these positions, effective with this meeting. He will be missed from these jobs, and we look forward to his return to more active participation in the near future.

I also want to acknowledge the hard work put in by our outgoing Secretary, Norma Hendrickson, who kept and distributed the minutes of the board meetings. My thanks go to all of the members of your Board of Directors. In most organizations like ours, the directors meet once or twice a year. Our board meets six times a year (and most members have a surprisingly good attendance record) to discuss and plan the Association’s business. Board members serve on committees and undertake special assignments which often go unreported to you, but which are essential to making the Association operate. I particularly want to thank Linda Perry, who is retiring from the board, for her active participation, and for her hospitality when the board met in Williamsport each fall. I want to congratulate in advance the incoming officers and new board members. It is their willingness to serve that allows the Association to continue to function.

Finally, I want to thank my good friend Hal Larsen. Hal and I joined the board together nine years ago, and we have reached the limitation on terms prescribed in the by-laws. Hal served as president of the Association for five years and has been your first vice-president since then. Many of the things that I have tried to do as president are merely continuations of programs and policies initiated during his time in office. Because the by-laws do not assign any specific duties to the first vice-president, I asked Hal to undertake chairmanship of the Archives Committee, which, as noted above, has been a difficult job in getting to where we are now. I trust that he will continue in this position as its real work begins. Hal also shared, with John Frye, Gordon Gay and me, in the planning and organization of the 1992 International Conference on Historic Canals, and he currently chairs the administrative committee for the 1994 full-canal hike, in which he oversees the work of the budget, publicity, guests, registration, and activities subcommittees. He accepted all of these assignments willingly and eagerly, and has been a strong leader and conscientious guide.

Our Association has endured for four decades with one basic objective: to preserve the C & O Canal as a place for quiet enjoyment, whether your primary interest is in cultural history, nature, or outdoor recreation. During the first half of its life, the Association led the effort to achieve that goal and to create a national park. As we approach the fortieth anniversary of Justice Douglas's historic hike, our park is faced with many new challenges. Just a year ago, we had great hopes that the new administration in Washington was going to pour additional resources into the National Park Service. Today, NPS, like all other agencies, is faced with additional massive budget and personnel cuts. Superintendent Hobbs has assembled an outstanding staff to manage the park, but he lacks the rangers and maintenance personnel, and the funds, to do all of the things that should be accomplished to preserve the historic canal and enhance the park's programs and facilities. In looking to the future, therefore, the Association and its members must be prepared to expand their role, and to assist the Service in every way that is appropriate.

ANNUAL MEETING NOTES.....

The 1994 Annual Meeting was held on March 5, at the Williamsport Volunteer Fire Company Hall, with over 100 members and guests in attendance. Around fifty early arrivals accompanied NPS Ranger and Association Board Member John Frye on an interpretive hike around the Cushwa Basin and later to Lock 44.

An informal coffee hour to meet the candidates occurred at 1:00 p.m. President Dave Johnson then called the meeting to order at 2:00 p.m., noting that he would be president for the next 90 minutes. Following reports from officers, committee chairs, program coordinators, Superintendent Hobbs, the 1994 Full-Canal Hike Report, the Association elected by acclamation, President Carl A. Linden, First Vice President Thomas L. Perry, Second Vice President Keith D. Kridenoff, Secretary Jane T. Larsen, Treasurer William J. Evans, and Information Officer Helen L. Shaw. Elected to three year terms: William D. Bauman, John C. Frye (re-elected), Norma K. Hendrickson, Ellen N. Holway, Lyman M. Stucker (re-elected). Gary Petrichick was elected to fill a one-year unexpired term of Orrin Long.

Of special note is the departure of the President Dave Johnson and First Vice President Hal Larsen from the Board of Directors due to term limitations imposed by the By-Laws. Many thanks to President Dave and First Vice President Hal for their years of committed service. Thanks also to outgoing Board members Ralph H. Donnelly and Linda Perry as well as Environmental Committee Chairman Orrin Long.

Presentations were made as follows, President Carl Linden presented Past President Dave Johnson with a golden horse shoe and Past First Vice President Hal Larsen with a Justice William O. Douglas Certificate of Appreciation.

Following the Installation of Officers and Board Members, there being no new business, a social hour sponsored by the Association was enjoyed by all. Thanks to our hosts John Fondersmith, John Chandler, Sonny DeForge, and Jim Millar.

Following a dinner of roast beef, chicken, and all the trimmings we listened as NPS Ranger Walter McMann, our keynote speaker for the evening, informed us through lecture and slides of the Proposed Western Extension of the C & O Canal.

'Til we meet again....

ANNUAL REPORT OF MEMBERSHIP COORDINATOR

Since our last Annual Meeting, the Board of Directors has authorized upgrading this computer system software from WordPerfect 5.2 to WordPerfect 6.0. This gives us the ability to maintain A Guide to Food and Lodging Along the C & O Canal, which was originally prepared by Mr. Fred Mopsik under the direction of the Publications Committee.

The following table reflects Association membership as of March 2, 1994 sorted by Membership Type (since last year we have combined Exchange with Complimentary, and deleted ICHC [International Conference on Historic Canals]):

We have had a decrease in membership over this same time in ’93. Part of that decline may be attributed to the non-renewal of ICHC members. Last year we experienced a growth due to an article in the Washington Post, apparently some of those members have not renewed.
Some non-renewals may be attributed to activities which do not appeal to the interests of the membership. Many members filled out the questionnaire when they renewed for '94. We have sorted through the returned questionnaires with regard to member interests and created the following table:

For example, reading the table vertically, we have 145 members interested in bicycling. When Sonny and Lynn De Forge plan the rides this year, they can take into consideration that 113 members also have an interest in the history of the canal, or 45 are also interested in birdwatching. This information can influence the time of year a particular bicycle trip would be planned or the segment of the canal the ride would cover. Or, reading the table horizontally, we have 282 members with an interest in the history of the canal. Of those 282, 161 are also interested in day hikes (i.e. less then 10 miles) while 74 are also interested in Heritage Hikes (i.e. hikes in the 10- to 13-mile range). This information can influence the topic for a day hike, maybe even to having a speaker on the hike. You can see the benefits for planning other Association activities. (By the way, our Programs Chairman, Ken Rollins, needs more folks like the De Forges to take charge of certain activities. Ken takes personal interest in planning the Canoeing trips.)

Our members do visit the canal independently of Association functions, based on surveying the questionnaires:

This year the Association's computer is also being used to help with the Registration function for the 1994 Justice Douglas Through Hike. We have 41 registered through hikers, plus 6 for the first week only and 4 for the second week only. Twenty-eight have signed up for the bus from Great Falls to Cumberland. Forty-seven members have already signed up for the Cumberland Banquet, with 43 staying the night at the motel. Fifty-six members have already signed up for the Williamsport Banquet, with 48 staying the night at the motel. Fifty-seven members have signed up for the Final Banquet. We also have 5 members who will be shuttling nightly to local motels; this will be a real test of our A Guide to Food and Lodging Along the C & O Canal when those 5 members use it nightly. We are expecting more banquet and motel registrations as a result of the Day Hiker Registration form to be distributed in March. Some hikers may want to join the group for a day or two; Mrs. Boies can provide breakfast, lunch and/or dinner to those members who register and thus let her plan ahead.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ENVIRONMENTAL COMMITTEE

This report highlights some of the activities of the Environmental Committee during the past year. Details regarding these activities and related issues are documented more fully in other Association records (minutes of Board meetings, the newsletter, and correspondence). The status of certain organizational initiatives is outlined near the end of the report.

Ironically—as has been the usual case for several decades—the Committee and the Board continued to address the impact of highway proposals on the ambience and integrity of the Canal Park. The most significant—and complex—of these proposals concerns Canal Parkway Development in Cumberland (Study and Draft Environmental Impact Statement, issued December 13, 1993). This study provided important new information that was not available in 1991. At that time, the Association expressed opposition to a Parkway Alternative (No. 4) that would have permitted construction of the highway on top of the Canal trace—with the towpath becoming a sidewalk. In the meantime, Alternative 4 has been re-worked and completely revised.

The Board's position on the basis of information and planning data available in 1991 was to favor one of the Alternatives (No. 2) and indicate that the route and alignment of Alternative No. 3 was "acceptable." A copy of the Board's comments on the Study and Draft Impact Statement was submitted in January 1994 to the Maryland State Highway Administration for inclusion in the public hearing records.

Another major highway project which is expected to move rapidly to the fore in the coming year is the so-called "Western By-Pass." The Virginia Department of Transportation has recently completed a "decision" document that offers—but does not select or recommend—several possible Potomac River crossing areas. New impetus for a "Western By-Pass" will be generated by the Disney project near Haymarket, Virginia.

Maryland is no longer interested in development of an "Eastern By-Pass." Rather the state intends to "enhance" and "improve" the "301 Corridor."

Other lesser highway projects were monitored or subjected to initial review by the Committee: the construction on the George Washington Parkway near Cabin John and a joint D.C. Department of Public Works–Federal Highway Administration effort to plan road changes at the Canal Road entrance to Georgetown University. The Draft Environmental Impact Statement on this project is scheduled for distribution in April, 1994.

Aside from highway projects and the potential of their intrusion on the Park, the Committee reviewed and assessed as a matter of high priority and importance—the pilot program developed by the Park staff to test and evaluate the effectiveness of an herbicide (glyphosate, commercial name: Roundup). Use of this herbicide is to control vegetation that is over-running or undermining many historic structures in the Park, including locks, culverts, waste weirs, and lock house foundations. This vegetation is slowly but surely either destroying the structures or increasing their vulnerability to weather forces.

Various manual and mechanical methods have been used over the years to retard or eradicate the transgressing vegetation—but with only limited and temporary effect. Park management has decided that while present control efforts should not be abandoned--the battle with nature for this vegetative control is being lost. In their view, a determination should now be made as to whether chemical treatment offers an acceptable and effective means of forestalling further structural decay.

The pilot program, initiated this past summer, calls for some degree of treatment of 24 sites in the Canal Park over a two-year period. Ten categories or types of historical structures together with their immediately surrounding vegetation management areas are represented at these sites. All aspects of this test program (treatment methods, personnel training, weather conditions, etc.) will be monitored continuously by the Committee to develop an independent basis for judging the efficacy of this chemical treatment.

No significant progress can be reported on the Chairman's initiatives to establish an "environmental alert network" up and down the Canal and its environs. Ditto, insofar as any increase in our liaison relationships with other natural resource conservation organizations. Action on these matters has been "one step forward, two steps back." Nevertheless, they remain as Committee objectives.

As a matter of general interest and satisfaction to the membership of the Association, the Committee's exploration and fact-finding in support of the "network" scheme noted above, we have learned there is a sizeable pool in our ranks of "experts"--with extensive experience in environmental affairs. An immediate task for the Committee in the coming year is to obtain commitments from these members to apply their talents to specific projects.

NOTES ABOUT THE ASSOCIATION'S 1994 PROGRAMS

VIP stands for Volunteers in the Park. For many years the Association has made its appreciation for the Park evident by various work projects in support of the Park Service. We have cleared vegetation from the Canal, cleared trails (and closed some unwanted ones), cleaned structures, and provided documents for concerts and boat rides. Work projects really last from 9:00 a.m. to noon, often followed by a picnic lunch or other social circumstance. Here is a great opportunity to meet other members and make a real contribution to our beloved Park. The first Saturday of each month is the regular time (except August) but locations are dependent on needs and are difficult to schedule very long in advance; watch newsletter and bulletins, but the VIP coordinators can always advise where to meet. Call John Lindt (301) 469-6381 or Ranger Terry Barbot (301) 299-3613.

The Association Board meeting dates have been listed in the calendar to remind members that they are welcome and encouraged to attend. This is your Association.

One of our bicycle coordinators, George Complair, has moved to Oregon, leaving Sonny DeForge without a partner. Anyone who would like to serve as a point of information exchange and to help arrange logistic support is welcome. The overnight and full distance events have become very popular, and they go very well if someone provides transportation for gear or if shuttles can be arranged. Suggestions for trips are also welcome - call Sonny at (301) 530-8830.

For several recent years, the Park Service has sponsored a series of bike trips covering the entire Canal by one-day (Saturday) round trips, from May into September. Information about this program may be obtained from Park Headquarters (301) 739-4200.

The Association provides a booth at the several festivals in the canal towns during the summer months. Our presence tells people who we are and what we do, and is a source of new members. It also provides an opportunity to participate in the festivals, to meet interesting people, and to share the experience with other members. Rita Bauman (703) 888-1425 is coordinator for these events and would appreciate your help.

"Level Walker" hikes are added to the program from time to time through bulletins and the newsletter. These are usually four- to six- mile round trips, although longer (2-level) trips could be scheduled if participants are willing to shuttle (and why not?). Level Walkers are encouraged to "host" walks along their levels. New Level Walkers may be concerned that they are not familiar enough with their territory to be interpreters, but you don't need to be an expert - there are guidebooks, and the idea is just to get out, learn, and share. Keep in touch with the coordinator, Keith Kridenoff (410) 661-8285, and watch the bulletins and newsletter.

Along the Towpath
PROFILES: WHO TO EXPECT ON THE GREAT HIKE

As we approach the Association’s greatest event in 1994, the 40th-anniversary Justice Douglas Reunion Hike, my thoughts go back five years to when we attracted walkers ranging from hardy souls in their seventies to a bright teenager whose only difficulty was getting up in the morning. A varied population representing many professions were among our company, as will be the case this year. As the roster already shows, many familiar persons will bring to the event their individuality and personality, promising diverse hiking companions along the towpath.

The biggest hiker will undoubtedly be Maine’s Paul “Big Foot” Tourigny, a formidable athlete who is well named. He seeks out daunting hikes around the world and considers the march from Cumberland to Washington a worthy undertaking. During the ’89 event he served as the company’s first sergeant, marching up and down among the tents bellowing “rise and shine” in the early morning to roust sleepy hikers from their sleeping bags for breakfast.

A new Association member is Leo Parde, who, like Big Foot, must always be on guard for low ceilings or doorways when he enters a room. An ex-marine and now the security chief at a deluxe Washington hotel, he first attracted my attention when he hiked the towpath from Washington to Cumberland in seven days. He regretted only not having time to smell the flowers. In the meantime, Leo got in shape for the through-hike by scaling Annapurna in Nepal in December. Despite the bitter cold and deep snows, he used a two-week “vacation” to hike with a Sherpa companion to the 14,000-foot level. The air is very thin up there, but unpolluted. Now Leo looks forward to a comparatively leisurely walk along the towpath, with time to smell the flowers.

Chapel Hill’s Lee Lovell, a former government official who served in Washington and Europe, may well be the oldest hiker on the through-hike. This octogenarian was once a familiar figure on the towpath, and he keeps coming back when the challenge is sufficient, e.g., a bracing two-week forced march on Washington.

Gene Bergman, who comes from Nampa, Idaho, was more at home in the New Guinea jungles where in earlier times he was skilled at dropping paratroopers from a C-47. He takes a quantum leap from this python-infested habitat to the peaceful C&O Canal. A patriot to the end, he flies the Stars and Stripes as he hikes, a colorful beard on the gray-green Potomac shoreline. Gene and his wife, June, are traveling the longest distance to participate in the through-hike.

From Williamsport, we have the Rev. Tom Perry, a sturdy hiker and athlete who has no difficulty keeping pace with the young and impatient. Typically he is decked out in Lederhosen and with a feather in his flared hat. With his bemused staff, he suggests the Volksmarcher. In reality he is an accomplished organist whose music is spiritual and stirring as the occasion demands. Not content to use whatever parlor organs might be available, he built his own, a massive pipe collection to fill half the space in his two-story living room. When the Association’s board meets at his house in Williamsport, the fierce contention around the table is tempered by the beautiful sounds emanating from the organ. Nothing brings civility to a meeting more readily than Tom at the keyboard.

Much can be said about so many others, but let me mention just one more. No hike would be complete without Ken Rollins. Always debonair in his outdoor garb, with a broad-brimmed hat, tasseled jacket or a bejeweled western shirt and with his trim mustache, he is always a welcome companion when the going gets tough. An experienced outdoorsman, Ken is very innovative, always ready with a solution to any problem. His outlook on life may be disarming; a low-key, relaxed person, he doesn’t fret too much about plans and schedules. “Oh, it’ll work out,” he always says, and, in fact, it always does. But this laid-back approach is sometimes small comfort to beady-eyed managers who perhaps worry too much.

For two weeks, some 50 people will camp and eat together, and share their lives as they walk along. As we have seen before, life-long friendships emerge from this experience. Even more, romance frequently blossoms on the C&O Canal. Individuals who might be recalled as blurs in a hiking multitude on a day hike become cherished friends on the through-hike, each with his own history and personality. Names and addresses are exchanged, with vows to meet again. Hikers promise each other never to forget, and believe me, they don’t.

The Association regrets that two members will not be able to attend the through-hike as planned. Lee Lovell of Chapel Hill, NC (would have been our senior hiker), and Tom Perry of Williamsport, MD, have had to cancel.

1954 HIKE RECOLLECTIONS OF ROBERT ESTABROOK

In preparation for a program on the original Douglas Hike to be sponsored by the Potomac Appalachian Trail Club on April 14th, Paula Strain, of PATC wrote to Robert Estabrook, one of the members of that historic hike. She asked him to share some of his recollections and the following are excerpts from his letter to her. ...As I recall many persons from surrounding towns did join the hike for short segments or even all-day stints. They were encouraged to do so by Justice Douglas and the environmental organizations. Quite a few joined at Great Falls for the last leg. My ‘foot trouble’ was actually an irritated Achilles tendon. I hiked some every day.
We were indeed the guests of several local fish and game clubs, and the dinners they served ranged from full meals to sandwiches and potato chips (at the poshest). I don’t have any clear recollection about breakfast, but my impression is that it was supplied by the mess truck that accompanied us. I am unsure of the origin, but Jack Durham arranged it and we had an elderly male cook. Funny, but I just don’t recall the lunches. I have to guess that the mess truck supplied sandwiches and coffee. We often slept in the fish and game clubs, sometimes on cots, sometimes on the floor in our sleeping bags. On one memorable night, though, we slept on the ground (no air mattresses then!) in a Maryland state park and the temperature dropped into the 20s. It was a pretty cold experience and we were glad to see daybreak.

In addition to the recollections in the above letter, Mr. Estabrook shared other memories of the hike, some of which were part of a recent article in the Rails-to-Trails Conservancy newsletter. Ultimately a crew of 29 started the hike, including eminent naturalists and conservationists. Twelve people completed all 184 miles. The remaining hikers, including me, had to ride part of the way because of swollen tendons and other ills...I frankly had no idea as we trudged along the path of what would eventually come about - although I rejoiced in the later result. I alternately reveled in the spring beauty, climbed over the many obstacles or nursed my Achilles’ tendon. What amazed most of us was the pace Justice Douglas set and maintained despite his overcoming the effects of polio as a boy. We joked about it being six miles an hour, although it was more likely about four. We even adapted a tune from SHOW BOAT about "Just our Bill" ending with "We love him, because he’s jet propelled." Perhaps one secret of his stamina was his ability to sleep soundly. We discovered a contributing factor at one of the fish and game clubs that offered use of its dormitory after a days trek. One of the hikers produced a bottle of bourbon and asked me to pour the justice a drink. Douglas held out a tumbler and said: "I’ll tell you when!" "When" turned out to be an entire tumblerful, which the justice proceeded to down in short order. Soon afterward he retired in a sleeping bag, snores emanating as if he had sawed several cords of wood.

REPORT FROM THE ARCHIVES COMMITTEE

A computer, a laser printer, a copier and a light-box for slide viewing have dramatically enhanced the prospects of the C&O Canal archives project. This equipment, which has been installed at the Ferry Hills facility by the time you read this, will enable us to begin collating and storing our archival materials.

We want to establish a fixed workday, tentatively every Tuesday, to make it easier for volunteers to fit this activity into their lives. We are also considering times for weekenders. We will first copy all the documentary material, then establish a computerized records system, and put the original documents in special protective files, which will be available to Association members, scholars and students. A computerized inventory will record documents with keyword citations designed to enable users to recover data on many specific subjects.

In addition to working with documents, we will preserve, record and file many photographs and color slides. Most of these items have inadequate labels, and the volunteer archivists will try to identify places and people and provide dates—a major task.

We decided to assign each volunteer a specific collection: papers, photographs, slides, or in some cases a combination of these materials. Thus, each archivist will have continuity in his task and be able to develop expertise in a specific area. Such concentration by individuals will serve the Association better than would a fragmented exposure to various assets by volunteers working together on collections.

As soon as we have finished the logistical preparation and decided on work schedules, we will notify those who have expressed interest in archival work. Meanwhile, please call Hal Larsen (703/356-1809) if you have questions or wish to volunteer.

CANAL BOAT MEMORIES

Many of you will recall the article we printed in September 1992, by Association member Lillian Crampton Langdon, who was born on Boat #79 at Georgetown during a blizzard in 1912. Mrs. Langdon, who lives in Waldorf, Maryland, has sent us some more of her memories of the canal when she was a child, and particularly of her grandmother.

"My grandfather, Isaiah Crampton, was known as the gambler who always lost. Isaiah married Annie Helen Ecton. They had five sons and one daughter. Isaiah, his sons, brothers, and their sons boated. Some had two boats.

"Grandma's parents were of German origin. They attended the Dunkard Church in Antietam, where she was born. She raised two orphan nephews, also.

"She was a tireless worker, and could shuck corn at the same time she steered the boat through the locks. Spare time was used for canning, baking, etc.

"Her favorite pastime was quilting, made from scraps, from discarded work clothes, sugar and flour sacks. Feed sacks were cut into strips, dyed and woven into rugs. Dyes were made from walnut hulls, onion skins, beets and berries.

"Quilting is my hobby. I have made one from scraps and in memory of Annie Ecton Crampton, and would like to donate it to the C & O Canal Association.

"I have many fond memories and was on the last trip when the canal closed."

Sincerely,

Lillian C. Langdon

ATTENTION: STAMP COLLECTORS

The Hagerstown Stamp Club is producing a series of cachets commemorating the C & O Canal. The cachets are a part of the club's semi-annual stamp shows.

To date, two cachets are available. The first, dated August 14, 1993, shows the famous picture of the Capitol Limited passing a canalboat near Sandy Hook. The second, issued February 19, 1994, features a map of the route of the canal from Georgetown to Cumberland. Future cachets will feature engineering and life on the canal.

Each cachet is $2.00 plus a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (The February 19 map cachet is also available hand colored for $10.00 each plus SASE. This is a limited edition and may not be available as long as the black and white version.)

Requests for the cachets should be sent directly to HAGERSTOWN STAMP CLUB, P. O. Box 2265, Hagerstown, Maryland 21741-2265. (Please DO NOT send your orders to the C & O Canal Association.)

| JOINT MEETING OF THE |
| C & O CANAL ASSOCIATION - |
| VIRGINIA CANALS & NAVIGATIONS |
| SOCIETY |
| AT |
| HARPER'S FERRY |
| ON |
| MEMORIAL DAY WEEKEND |

The Virginia Canals & Navigations Society will hold its 1994 annual meeting and tour during the weekend of May 27 - 29 at Harpers Ferry. The Society has invited the C & O Canal Association to make this a joint event, and Association members are encouraged to participate. The focus of the weekend will be the Shenandoah River and the canals and locks that made it navigable.

The main program on Saturday, May 28, will be in Harpers Ferry NHP, and will include a narrated walking tour of Virginius Island, focusing on the Shenandoah Canal and the use of the canal and the falls by mills and industry. We will also have a guided tour of the Masonic Hall, the vaulted roof of which is made of parts of Shenandoah Navigation gondolas.

In the afternoon, we will cross the river to the C & O Canal, to re-measure the width of the Shenandoah River lock that caused Gen. McClellan so much trouble in 1862. Participants may then hike up the towpath to Dam #3 to look for the hauling wall of the old Shenandoah Falls Canal, or return to Harpers Ferry to tour the remainder of the town on their own.

Saturday evening will feature the annual VC&NS banquet and business meeting, following which Tony Greiner will speak on "Navigation and Commerce on the Shenandoah River of Virginia."

Sunday morning, May 29, participants will carpool to the Millville Hydro Plant for a tour of an operating small hydroelectric facility built on a Shenandoah Navigation canal lock and dam. The tour will be courtesy of Potomac Edison. This will be followed by a visit to the Little's Falls Canal and lock beside the picturesque ruins of Newcomer's Mill. This is the only lock still standing on the Shenandoah Navigation. The site was rediscovered and cleared by VC&NS. It is located in a Potomac Edison riverside park.

In the afternoon, participants may take a guided raft tour of the Falls of the Shenandoah, from Millville to the Potomac. This is the most popular and scenic part of the river. It will follow the channel made for Shenandoah River gondolas almost two centuries ago, including Bulls Falls Sluice, the most famous sluice and wall on the river.

For those who wish to stay over to Monday (Memorial Day), members of our Association will lead a carpool tour of C & O Canal sites upstream from Harpers Ferry.

The starting point for each day's tour and the Saturday evening banquet will be at the Cliffside Inn on route 340, about 1.4 miles west of the Shenandoah River bridge, and just past the entrance to the new parking lots for Harpers Ferry National Historical Park.

For those arriving on Friday, an exhibit room will be open from 4:30 to 9:00 pm; the VC&NS board meeting will be held at 4:30 p.m.

A registration form for the weekend is enclosed with this newsletter. It should be returned directly to Virginia Canals & Navigations Society, (NOT to the C & O Canal Association,) by May 8th. If you have questions, please contact Wyn Price at (804) 786-8533 (work), or (804) 358-3067 (home).

The Society has reserved a block of rooms at the Cliffside Inn for the weekend. The rates are $54 per night (single) and $60 (double), plus 9% tax. Make room reservations directly with the Inn by calling toll-free 1-800-782-9437 not later than April 27th, and tell them you will be attending the Virginia Canals & Navigations Society meeting.

1993 was a pretty successful year for the Level Walker program. We had at least one report turned in for all but 8 of the 69 levels. Most of the levels sent multiple reports. We had 200+ reports turned in for the year and all of the active level walkers are to be congratulated on their hard work. If you have a level that you didn't walk in 1993, our by-laws require that you be placed on the inactive list. Your name will be returned to active status upon receipt of your first report in '94. Enclosed in this article is a list of active walkers. If you are interested in becoming a level walker, please take note of levels without a name or one with only one walker. Of course if there is another area of interest, I will try to accommodate you. If interested, please contact me at:

The 1993 holiday season brought little but rain...and more rain. After that came snow and ice. Icicles and Christmas-like baubles of ice hung over the Potomac's edge from branches and out-jutting rocks. The river swelled with drenching rain and melting ice, in places overflowing its banks and midstream islands.

The towpath metamorphosed from a snow-covered delight for ski enthusiasts to a muddy morass. At other times it was a slippery ribbon of glass. For a brief time, the canal was a frozen freeway for ice-skaters from Anglers Inn to Georgetown.

On one memorable winter day, a bald eagle soared high against the blue sky over the raging river. On that same day a disgruntled robin huddled on a low branch in the woods, seeking shelter from the wind, while a flock of cedar waxwings and a small flock of bluebirds hunted last year's viburnum fruits and other woodland offerings.

The skunk cabbage bloomed on schedule just before Christmas--the first wildflower blossom of the 1994 season. With the plant's apparent knack for creating its own climate--snow melts around it--later cold snaps left it undiscouraged.

Wetlands along Berma Road became apparent as they continued with their snow cover while snow melted all around them. Small waterfalls of ice clung to rocky cliffs.

Spring came early in one recent year, signalled by the song of a phoebe near Great Falls Tavern on February 28. No such luck this year. We can only continue to listen--and hope.

Barring accidents such as last year's late cold snap that made the pair of eagles leave their nest, this year is again promising for eagle-watchers. Consistently, the white head of an adult bald eagle can be seen above the nest on Conn Island.

The recent scouring of the walls of Lock 19 removed the only purple-stemmed cliffbrake fern to be found in the local area. It had quietly flourished there for many years, a lone example of its kind. Now hunters of rare ferns will probably need to travel as far as the Harpers Ferry area to find another one of its kind.

Such lack of care even for plant rarities again raises a question regarding the possibility of cooperation between those interested in maintaining the natural diversity of plant life in the Park and those with a primary interest in the Park's man-made structures. Is cooperation possible, for example, to reduce mowing along the towpath and elsewhere in the Park to an absolute minimum this year in order to provide a greater chance for natural growth?

NOTE: Sights and Sounds of the Seasons nature walks start their 21st year in 1994 with the leadership of tree Park Service volunteers--Betty Bushnell, Betty Henson, and Helen Johnston--all members of the C&O Canal Association. The walks are scheduled four times monthly on the first and last Wednesday and Saturday, meeting in Great Falls Tavern at 10 a.m.

- - Helen Johnston

ASSOCIATION MEMBERS INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN CANAL ACTIVITIES AT NORTH BRANCH

C&O Canal of Cumberland, Md., Incorporated, the volunteer organization operating the C&O Canal Boat Replica at Lock 75 at North Branch under a cooperative agreement with NPS was happy to have Association members man a booth at The C&O Canal Boat Festival the last few years. Both the C&O Canal Association and the C&O Canal of Cumberland, Md., Incorporated, share the same interests of historical and natural preservation of the C&O Canal.

The Canal Boat organization would like to extend the invitation to the Association to participate even more in future festivals and other activities at the North Branch site.

Perhaps association members could help with Canal interpretation at the festivals by telling old canal tales, dressing as a canal boat captain, captain's wife, mule driver, or lock tender, and telling about canal life or developing some idea of your own. We could have 15-minute presentations on the band stand, or just hang out and talk to visitors informally.

Maybe a group of members would like to camp overnight at the Canal Boat around a bon fire with guitar playing and singing, or do a larger project like a Canal By Lantern Light, where tour groups walk along the canal at night and meet a lock keeper, captain and wife, or mule driver.

Perhaps a group of members would like to be a part of a project to paint the boat on a weekend--paint furnished by the Canal Boat organization.

Please address any questions to me at (301) 729-3136, or at 300 Bel Air Drive, Cumberland.

John Millar, President
C&O Canal of Cumberland, Incorporated
